

HISTORY DEPARTMENT STUDY ABROAD SCHOLARSHIP

The History Department offers history majors the opportunity to apply for the History Department Study Abroad Scholarship, an undergraduate scholarship created to support student research to encourage undergraduate history majors who wish to participate in an official UGA study abroad program. Selection for this award is based on financial need, academic promise, and the applicant's own words, conveyed through a one-page essay. The History Department will award grants by competitive application. The grants will vary in amount according to the needs of individual students. They are intended to cover costs associated with travel and study abroad. They may, for example, enable students to travel to other countries to take classes and to participate in language instruction or conduct research. Students accepted into the Washington Semester program may also apply for this award.

Requirements:

An applicant must be a non-transient, degree-seeking history major in Franklin College of Arts and Sciences and have completed at least one semester as an undergraduate student in the Franklin College of Arts and Sciences prior to applying.

Students must submit the following materials to the History Department by the indicated deadline: an application, a short essay explaining why they wish to study abroad, a recommendation letter from a faculty member, and a letter from the Study Abroad Program Director indicating that they have been accepted into a UGA-approved study abroad program.
